Defence giant calls Ipswich home

The Palaszczuk Government and Rheinmetall Defence Australia have a 50-year vision for Ipswich's new $170 million Military Vehicle Centre of Excellence (MILVEHCOE).

With securing the $5.2 billion LAND 400 Phase 2 project, MILVEHCOE will become Rheinmetall's Australia-New Zealand headquarters and a hub for heavy vehicle manufacturing.

Rheinmetall's Ipswich base will bolster skills and supply chains, reinforce Queensland as the home of Australian defence industries and become the nation's gateway for export-ready defence technology.

From mid-2020, MILVEHCOE will deliver 211 Boxer combat reconnaissance vehicles under LAND 400 Phase 2, with the project creating 450 long-term advanced manufacturing and engineering jobs for Queensland.

Rheinmetall is tendering for the $10-15 billion LAND 400 Phase 3 for 383 infantry fighting vehicles and 17 manoeuvre support vehicles from late 2024.

Clean energy for Ipswich

CleanCo Queensland is the State's newest publicly-owned electricity generation and trading company.

As the State's third publicly-owned generator, the Palaszczuk Government has committed $250 million over two years as an initial funding injection for CleanCo to build, own, operate and maintain a portfolio of clean energy assets for the benefit of all Queenslanders.

CleanCo will increase supply, drive down prices and support jobs in the renewable sector. CleanCo is critical to maintaining public ownership of energy generation and the Government's strategy for jobs and business opportunities in an export-oriented renewable energy sector.

In 2019, CleanCo will take over ownership, trading and dispatch rights for 1,116MW of low and zero emissions generation assets from CS Energy and Stanwell, including the 570MW Wivenhoe pumped storage hydro station and the 385MW Swanbank E combined cycle gas-fired station.

In 2019-20, capital projects in the region include:

- $3.626 million for maintenance and overhauls at Wivenhoe
- $52.25 million for the Swanbank E major overhaul, Fast Start Upgrade and other projects.

By developing renewable assets, CleanCo will sustain jobs in the energy sector and support Queensland's transition to 50 per cent renewable energy generation by 2030.
